
Title: Clainin's Writings

Author: Shelby

From the writings of Clainin, Observations of
The Shards, A Chronicle of the remains of the Gem of Immortality.

As I have explained in past essays, the Gem of Immortality was linked to our world when it was broken. As a result, copies of Sosaria exist within each of the broken fragments. As previous essays suggest, it is possible that copies of actual people may exist and thrive in different lives within these alternative Sosarias (I sometimes wonder if I have a duplicate in these worlds and how he fares).
Although these alternate Sosarias appear to us as small globes within the shards and a great deal of detail cannot be seen, we have learned much.
We know that just as the shards themselves are not in the original shape as the Gem of Immortality, the worlds within the shards are also different. Each facet of each shard holds a different world altogether.
Through the larger and more uniform of the facets a nearly identical copy of Britannia can be seen, although differences can be detected in the geography of the land within the facet and our own true Britannia.

However through the smaller and more uneven facets there are worlds so changed and bent that they look nothing like our Britannia and clearly have a civilization unlike any known to us. In many of the shards one particular facet contains one single continent, wreathed in mountains and with a great white city that can
center. Another facet contains an ancient looking land with swamps to the south and a desert to the north. I can only theorize that the imperfect and sometimes jagged shape of the facets formed these strange worlds from what was to be a copy of Britannia. As the vessel that held the world changed, all elements of space, time and magic would also have to adapt to fit the new form. It is entirely possible that within each facet the past, present and future changed drastically to accommodate the new shape of its facet, a sort of retroactive continuity. Who knows what strange new civilizations could have been created in the distant past or future of these worlds?

Notes by Shelby,
successor to Clainin:

It is entirely possible that these evil minions have found a new facet that we have not yet discovered. If so, there must exist other information about this place and how this Knight brought creatures here from it. He seems to have tied these creatures to the anti-virtues of our world. Perhaps by doing so he was able to rip them from that world and throw them into this one. If this world was a better place than what they left, or they are more powerful here than they ever might have been at home, it could be such beings would be grateful to him and enter his service.
